

Which matters can be decided by Mediation:-

Civil Case:-

- 1- Injunction Suits.
- 2- Specific Performances.
- 3- Family Matters.
- 4- MACT Cases
- 5- Matters of Landlord and tenant.
- 6- Recovery suits.
- 7- Commercial Matters.
- 8- Consumer Matters.
- 9- Financial and debt cases.

Criminal Cases:-

1. All compoundable cases:-
2. Sec. 498-A of Indian Penal Code 1860.
3. Sec. 138 of N.I. Act (Cases related to cheque bounces.

Revenue Cases also

How we can get benefit of Mediation ?

Application can be filed in the Court where litigation is pending.

Litigation is won by Judicial Procedure.
Heart is won by mediation.

Mediation is a legal procedure:-
Mediation is an absolute legal procedure enumerated under Section 89 of Civil procedure Code 1908 and published in Gazette of State of Chhattisgarh on dated 13-08-2007.

Application / referral of Case for Mediations:-

1. Litigation can be referred from the court.
2. Litigants can apply to the concerned Court.

Establishment of Mediation Centre:-

1. Taluka Civil Courts.
2. District Court at District Level.
3. High Court.

Its not sufficient to talk about peace,
have faith in it,
And having faith is not enough,
we have to make in it- Alevor Roozvelt.

MEDIATION

@CHHATTISGARH STATE LEGAL SERVICES AUTHORITY

Vidhik Sewa Marg, Bilaspur (C.G.) 495 001
E-mail : cgslsa@nic.in, cgslsa@gmail.com
Phone - (07752) 410210, 417625, Fax : (07752) 410530,
Toll Free No. : 18002332528

Resolve Litigation by Mediation and Save Money, Time and Relations

What is mediation?

Mediation is an alternative method for resolving disputes. Independent mediator is to make consenses between two parties regarding their interest by co-operation. Mediation is flexible and free from typical legal Procedure. Mediation removes internal mutual fraction of the parties.

Why Mediation?

A specific procedure functions between parties in Court for resolving the matters. Once the door of Courts are knocked judicial proceedings begins and becomes out of control of parties. Obviously judgment comes in the favour of a party and other party feels grievances. Court cannot pronounce such a Judgment which satisfies interest of both the parties. Courts pronounce judgments on the basis of facts, law and judicial procedure. In spite Mediation inspires and encourages the parties to talk freely over their interest, co-operate to begin conversation and give equal opportunity for reconciliation. Resolving matters is totally up to the parties in mediation. Mediation procedure is in under the control of litigants. Mediation ensures right to judgement in parties themselves.

Mediator
Judges and Advocates trained for 40 hours by MCPC can only perform mediation.

Benefits of Mediation:-

1. Mediation encourages compromise and provide opportunity to remove differences between parties.
2. Mediation heals the bad relations.
3. Mediation is an opportunity where parties can come to decision their own.
4. Alternative solution of disputes other than violence, malice and threat.
5. Mediation has nothing to do with trial and merit of the case.
6. Mediation is a cheap, easy and speedy process to resolve disputes.

7. There is maximum possibilities of success and also beneficial in every circumstances.
8. Mediation provides opportunity to both the parties to express their grudges and understand the feelings.
9. Mediation is a fearless, safe method to resolve dispute and also aintain confidentiality.
10. Parties comes to their own decision and no possibilities of unexpected judgment.
11. Mediation saves time, which elapses in lengthy judicial process.
12. Judgment by mediation is easily executable as it is based on consenses of parties.
13. Disputes can be resolved at any stage of trial.
14. Compromise through mediation gives peace to litigants.
15. Court fee is also exempted.
16. Mediation decides the case finally. No appeal lies by judgment pronounces after mediation.

Mediation is substratum of peace and stability.

Peace can be achieved through understanding not by violence.

Peace is a Journey of 1000 miles and it must be achieved at once in one step - Liden B. Jonsen.